

Lessons from a Vineyard—Isaiah 5:1-7
Greg Stiekes, Pastor

Isaiah sings a beautiful harvest song about a vineyard. Yet this song is designed to move the hearers to conviction and repentance, for it speaks to them of their rebellious hearts. This same song can also be a challenge for New Testament believers as we reflect upon the parallels between Isaiah's vineyard and the church:

1. God has done everything we need to be fruitful believers.
2. Still, it is possible for us to produce rotten fruit.
3. God is right to defend His honor by judging rotten vines.
