

Loving One Another in the Church—Romans 13:8-10
Greg Stiekes, Pastor

The Bible instructs members of the body of Christ to love one another. However, unless our love is intentional, we lack a necessary ingredient for obedience to this foundational command. What does the exhortation, “Love one another,” imply for us in this text?

When we love one another:

1. We are ‘living out’ theology.
2. We are accomplishing specific actions.
3. We are obeying an actual commandment.
