

We're Not There Yet, Part 2 from 2 Peter 1:5-11
Ryan Martin, Associate Pastor

Last month, we looked at verses 5-8 of this passage. The point of this entire section is that Christians must resist spiritual inertia and supplement their faith. We are often tempted to kick back and relax spiritually, but Peter is telling us that it is necessary for us as believers to fight against this and grow spiritually.

In this passage, Peter offers three more reasons for us to move forward.

1. Christian growth proves that we know Jesus (v8).

2. Christian growth shows that we understand the significance of Christ's atoning work for sin (v9).

3. Christian growth demonstrates that God has chosen us (v10-11).
